

Activity 1: Create a group chat

Now it's your turn to try sending group messages in Google Chat.

This particular activity requires you to chat with a group of your colleagues. Ask your colleagues to help you complete this activity by engaging in the chat conversation. If you prefer not to complete this activity, that's okay – just read the instructions and explore the Google Chat interface to ensure you're comfortable with it.

Complete the following steps:

1. If you do not have Google Chat open already, open it now by visiting chat.google.com.
2. Click Start chat and click Start group conversation.
3. Type the names (or email addresses) of at least two of your colleagues, and then click Start DM with selected users (the tick icon)
4. Send a message to the group.
5. As you see messages coming in from other members of the chat, send a reply to each of them.
6. Add an emoji in your replies, or just react with Add reaction.
